In 1993, a U.Va. Engineering Ph.D. student developed the Round Window Electromagnetic Aid, a hearing aid that uses magnetic waves to transmit vibrations.